Camp Philosophy

The Bengal Youth Football Camp is a non-contact camp. The main goal of the camp is to teach the basic fundamentals of offense, defense, and the kicking game to each participant. Important skills are taught through individual and group drills and lead-up games.

Camp Format

Players are divided into four different age groups. Athletes entering the 2nd through 5th grade are taught skills related to every position as well as kicking and punting.

Athletes entering 6th through 8th grade choose an offensive and defensive position. The older age groups practice at both positions each session.
